Data Source

Job market data is collected from LinkedIn, via their powerful add-on tool Insights. The tool comes in a package with their Recruiter tool license, and provides us with various ways to assess how the market is performing. Active Jobs, Gender Split, % changed jobs, % open to work and is also harnessed from here. We'll use the same search each month to deliver an accurage picture. "open to work" is defined as anyone who has this feature activated on their LI profile. % changed jobs, is anyone within the data set who has changed jobs in the last 12 months. Active Jobs is any job registered on LI with the following title (Head of Quality, Senior Quality Engineer or SDET)

All salary data from www.itjobswatch.co.uk. There are a variety of tools to get such information, all with slightly different ways of collection data. We're sticking with this platform to provide some consistency in our results.
